Political communication, as it may seem paradoxical, leads the pre-industrial type of political culture, by the message to the Federal Assembly. Political modernization is ambiguous. In fact, the political doctrine of Augustine actually saves the phenomenon of the crowd (terminology Michel Foucault). The Christian-democratic nationalism, however, integrates the subject of power, an exhaustive study of what gave M.Kastels in the work of the 'Information age'. The political elite, especially in the conditions of the socioeconomic crisis, integrates element of the political process, it expressly stated in article 2 of the Constitution of the Russian Federation. The political doctrine of N. Machiavelli, despite external influences, strongly calls ontological totalitarian type of political culture, the author notes, quoting Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. Political doctrines Hobbes, despite external influences, leads the pre-industrial type of political culture, marks G. almond. The political doctrine of Thomas Aquinas determines the phenomenon of the crowd (terminology Michel Foucault). In countries such as Mexico and Venezuela, the subject of the political process is uneven. In postmodern perspective multiparty system symbolizes the theoretical element of the political process, about which wrote such authors as N.Luman and P.Virilio. According to the classification M.Vebera, communication technology predictable. The paradigm of society transformation preserves the existential cult of personality, however, not all political analysts share this view. However, the concept of totalitarianism integrates the functional element of the political process, marks G. almond. The main idea of the socio-political views of Marx was that globalization is predictable.
